

After seeing the FCC chairman encouraging consumers to purchase HDTV systems in order to view ever increasing HD programming, I have to express frustration with federal rules. Having owned HDTV and DirectTV HD systems for years, I get angry every time an HD event (NFL game for example) or new HD channel is blocked by local broadcasters - help the consumers for a change instead of the broadcast lobby and maybe you'll get more people to buy HDTV.

Thanks, Ray Swanson